How to make garage door opener light stay on

COO/paulbr75/Pixabay For some people, the garage door is the front door of their property because they drive their vehicle into the garage and then enter the house through a side door. For others, it's just a door to a place filled with stuff that needs to be sorted through. However you see it, you need a secure door that doesn't jam and rarely needs maintaining. The look of the garage door is also important because it has to fit in with the rest of the property, and how well the door's insulated also has to be factored in if you want to work in the garage and you live in a cold-weather area. Garage DoorThe price of the door and how much installation will cost are also important things to take into account, but don't go for the cheapest garage doors without considering your options. You could take a single layer steel door made from a 24-gauge steel skin, but you'll be compromising on security and warmth. A double-layered door is more durable, more energy-efficient and helps to keep road noise out. The added insulation also makes the garage warmer and more secure. A triple layered door with expanded polystyrene insulation is the most durable door, but it won't be the cheapest to buy. Automatic Garage Door OpenersAutomatic garage door openers are more convenient than manual doors, and they're also safer if you come home late at night. You basically have two options: a belt drive or chain drive opener. A belt driven opener is quieter and quicker but it's not as durable as the chain driven equivalent and it's more expensive. If you live in a cold climate, you will need the added durability of the chain. If not, you'll have to weigh the pros and cons for yourself. Garage Door SizesStandard overhead garage door widths are, generally, eight, nine or ten feet by seven feet for standard garage doors and twelve, fifteen, sixteen or twenty feet by seven for double garages. When you're thinking about constructing a double garage you have the option of installing a single door or a double door. Two single doors together often look better than one door and there are practical reasons to go this route. If you have a problem with one of the doors, you can still get your vehicles out of the garage through the other, and the price of two single doors is often very similar to one double. Double Garages for RVsIf you own an RV, you'll need a bigger garage not just a bigger garage door. The standard garage door height of seven feet won't be high enough. You'll need a garage opening that's sixteen feet wide by eight feet tall and the ceiling height of nine feet. If you're building a new garage to accommodate your RV, make sure you have proper architectural plans in place that allow space for the RV, other storage items and maybe even another vehicle. Garage Door PartsThere are loads of websites offering parts for garages so you can maintain the doors very cheaply. Whether you want new springs, rollers, locks or a remote, you'll only need a toolkit and some time to fix most of the issues that happen through wear and tear. The websites and retailers who sell you replacement parts also sell weatherproofing kits that can help you keep out the worst of the weather if you live in a cold weather area. Common Problems with Garage DoorsYou can repair a garage door yourself if you've got the right tools and you're confident enough to try, but if the door needs some major work, call an expert in. If the gear and sprocket assembly have begun to strip out because of wear and tear, you will find the opener making noise but not the door moving. This can be worrying but the work isn't expensive. Another common problem is the traveler or trolley becoming stripped out over time. The symptoms are the same as those with the gear and sprocket and the price for replacement is equally low. There's more to think about than just the cost of new garage doors. If you're thinking about DIYing this project, these considerations should help you decide whether you're up for the challenge.Project ComplexityInstalling a new garage door isn't a simple task. Depending on who you ask, this can be considered a moderately difficult to expert-level project. In addition to requiring precision — an improperly installed garage door is not only a potential nuisance but also a potential hazard — this is a project that requires a lot of time, patience and muscle.CCO/stevepb/Pixabay Garage Door WeightIn addition to being complex, garage door installation typically requires more than one person. Each garage door is likely to weigh between 150-450 pounds, and since they're so large and unwieldy, it can be dangerous to try to install them alone.CCO/paulbr/Pixabay Spring TypesGarage doors rely on the use of springs to generate enough tension to raise and lower the door without crashing it down all at once. There are two different spring types: torsion and extension. Torsion springs tend to be quieter and operate better.Public Domain/Oleg Alexandrov/Wikimedia Commons Torsion Spring DangerThough torsion springs are preferable for a few reasons, they are very dangerous to work with directly. There are some DIY models that you can tension without knowing a lot about the mechanics of the thing, but in general, you should call in a professional to help when installing or removing torsion springs.CCO/theredbeardagency/Pixabay MaterialsGarage doors are available in a variety of different materials, including wood and steel. While aesthetics may influence your initial decision, it's important to consider durability and weight when choosing a garage door material. Steel tends to be the lightest and most durable option.CCO/theredbeardagency/Pixabay Insulation ValueYour garage door is responsible for covering up a massive opening into your home. Even if you have a detached garage, you'll still want to protect what's inside from extreme temperatures. Different garage doors may have different insulation ratings. If you live somewhere with extreme weather, this is worth paying attention to.CCO/StockSnap/Pixabay Purchase TimingThe fact that garage doors are so large means that most stores don't keep them in stock, so whether you buy online or from a physical store, you'll probably have to wait for delivery. This means you'll want to time your purchase right so you don't take your old garage door off too soon.CCO/193584/Pixabay Important Safety FeaturesIt's important that you choose a garage door with adequate safety features. These include an auto-reversing mechanism connected to sensors known as photoelectric eyes. These features combined make it possible for the garage door to detect whether something is in the way when it's closing and, if necessary, reverse to open all the way.CCO/Victor_Birkus/Pixabay Opener Switch PlacementIt's essential to consider placement of every part of the garage door opener system, including any wall-mounted openers. In general, it's best to set these high enough that very young children can't reach them, but low enough that older children can. Five feet is generally a good height.CCO/theredbeardagency/Pixabay Safety During InstallationYou'll need a variety of different tools for installation, ranging from a drill and pliers to sawhorses and stepladders. But you'll also want to use safety equipment like protective glasses and gloves. If you aren't sure whether you can safely do a DIY installation, leave it to the pros.CCO/Grzegorz_Skibka/Pixabay MORE FROM QUESTIONSANSWERED.NET Is your garage door opener light coming on and staying on? It's usual for it to be on for about 4 minutes after you open your door. However, if it is staying on longer than that, there is a problem you need to address. The team here at Seven Locks and Doors has a few tips for you to troubleshoot the fact that your garage door opener light won't shut off. What Controls The Lights?Most garage door openers have at least one light bulb that can sometimes be LED. Your opener has a logic receiver board that controls the light features. There is a timer for the lights that last 4 minutes. When your opener light stays on for more than the usual 4 minutes, there are a number of reasons why.Why The Light Stays OnHere are a few reasons why your Blue Max, Lift Master, or other garage door opener light stays on longer than the usual time:1. Motion Sensors Were TriggeredMost openers come with motion sensors. This feature comes on when the sensor detects movement. The light will come on any time someone walks in front of the beams. If you're constantly walking in and out of the garage, the feature stays activated without you thinking about it. You can turn off this feature through your remote control menu. This is a helpful security feature especially when you are away from your home. Some motion sensors are strong enough to detect heat. The motion sensor also makes sure you never have to work in a dark garage. 2. Light Features Are ActivatedIf your remote control has different functions, the light feature is easy to turn off. If you don't want the light to turn on when it senses movement, follow these easy steps:Turn off the function through the menu button.Click the button that says "light settings."Click the automatic light button.Turn off the sensory feature function.Return to your menu panel.If you don't have multiple functions, check your instruction manual to see how to turn off this relay feature. The manual will have more instructions on these features. 3. Try The Door Control PanelIf your door control has multiple functions, check the "Light" button on the panel. Your door control panel is usually on the wall inside your garage. Sometimes the "Light" switch button is accidentally activated which causes the light to stay on. Try pressing it again to turn it off.How To Troubleshoot The IssueAfter you try these steps and your opener light still won't turn off, there are several troubleshooting steps you can do. While troubleshooting doesn't fix all the issues, it's a great idea to try anyway when it won't turn off. The wiring in the logic board could also be the problem. Try these steps to fix the issue:Reset the light timer to the lowest setting (90 seconds) instead of 4 minutes.Disconnect the unit power.Disconnect the wiring from the opener.After 90 seconds, reconnect the power and see if the lights come on.Then, reconnect the opener.If you think there's a problem, don't wait to get it repaired. Waiting for repairs will cause more damage to other parts of your garage door system. This will also cost you more time and money in the long run. Solving The IssueIf the lights stay on, the logic board could have an issue. If the lights blink on and off, sometimes it can be a red light, after you reconnect the power, an expert should check the wiring in the unit. Call the team here at Seven Locks and Doors right away and they will find the source of the problem. They will either recommend a part replacement or further troubleshoot the problem. When your opener lights won't turn off on your Genie or another brand of garage door opener, call your local garage door company right away. If your troubleshooting steps don't work, an expert will find the problem and give you a solution.
